Who May Make a Verifiable Consumer Request

Only the consumer or someone legally authorized to act on the consumer's behalf may make a verifiable consumer request related to the consumer's personal information. A parent or guardian may also make a verifiable consumer request on behalf of a minor child (a consumer who is less than 13 years of age).

An authorized agent may make a verifiable consumer request on the consumer's behalf by providing us with the consumer's signed permission for the authorized agent to do so. A consumer may grant such permission by using our CCPA Authorized Agent Affidavit form. We may also require that the consumer verify his/her own identity directly with us and/or directly confirm with us that s/he provided the authorized agent permission to submit the request. These requirements do not apply when a consumer has provided the authorized agent with an appropriate power of attorney and we receive a copy of that power of attorney. We may deny a request from an authorized agent who does not submit proof that s/he has been authorized by the consumer to act on the consumer's behalf.

What is Required in a Verifiable Consumer Request

A verifiable consumer request must include enough information that allows us to reasonably verify that the consumer whose personal information is the subject of the request is the consumer about whom we have collected personal information. We will attempt to match data provided in the verifiable consumer request to data that we maintain. Specifically, we will ask for personal information, such as name, email address, telephone number, mailing address, the consumer's relationship to us, and associated policy numbers. If necessary, we may request additional information on the consumer for identity verification.

We must also be able to reasonably verify that the requestor of a verifiable consumer request has the authority to make the request, by verifying that the requestor is the consumer whose personal information is the subject of the request, or is the consumer's parent, guardian, or authorized agent. We will require the requestor to sign a declaration of identity under penalty of perjury, and we may use a third-party identity verification service.

A verifiable consumer request must provide sufficient information that allows us to properly understand, evaluate and respond to the request. We cannot respond to a request if we cannot verify the consumer's identity or the requestor's authority to make the request, and confirm that the personal information maintained by us relates to the consumer. If we deny a request, we will state the reason in our response. We will only use personal information provided in a verifiable consumer request to verify the requestor's identity or authority to make the request and for security and fraud prevention purposes. Making a verifiable consumer request does not require creation of an account with us.

Verifiable Consumer Request Response and Timing

We will confirm receipt of a verifiable consumer request within 10 business days of receipt, and upon verification, provide a response within 45 calendar days of receipt. If we require more time, we will inform the requestor of the reason and extension period in writing (up to a maximum of 90 calendar days from the day of receipt). We will deliver our written response by mail or electronically, at the requestor's option. For data portability requests provided electronically, we will select a format that is readily useable and should allow for the information to be transmitted from one entity to another entity without hindrance. Any disclosures we provide will only cover the 12-month period preceding the verifiable consumer request's receipt. The response we provide will also explain the reasons we cannot comply with a request, if applicable.

We do not charge a fee to process or respond to a verifiable consumer request unless it is excessive, repetitive, or manifestly unfounded. If we determine that the request warrants a fee, we will communicate why we made that decision and provide a cost estimate before completing the request. A consumer, or the consumer's parent, guardian, or authorized agent may submit an Access to Specific Information Request (Request to Know) up to two times within a 12-month period.
